

There's an issue with your account

Dear ##email##

We are hereby notifying you that, after a recent review of your account activity, it has been determined that you are in violation of PayPal's Acceptable Use Policy regarding your sales/offers on.

Therefore, your account has been limited.

We understand this may be frustrating and inconvenient but you'll still be able to see your transaction history for a limited time.

You can get more details about your account limitation in the Resolution Center.

We thank you in advance for your cooperation. If you have any questions, please contact the PayPal Risk Management Department.

Sincerely,
Lorraine
